Malaysia confident of achieving 35 per cent skilled workforce by 2020

MIRI : Malaysia is confident of achieving its target of 35 percent skilled workforce in three years' time or by 2020 when it achieves developed and industrialised nation status. Chief Special Purpose Vehicle (CSPV) of the Human Resources Development Fund (HRDF), Ministry of Human Resource Muhammad Ghazali AB Aziz said a recent study by them showed the percentage had increased from 27 percent to 31 percent. "31 percent is the unofficial percentage, the official one will be announced soon by Minister for Human Resource. I am confident that Malaysia by 2020 could achieve more than 35 percent," he said on Friday at the graduation ceremony for 20 Sarawakians with a Certificate of Professional Manager (CPM) from the Canadian Council of Professional Certification through the Human Resources Development Fund (HRDF)'s 1MalaysiaGRIP Programme.

Muhammad Ghazali said he based his confidence on the numerous efforts taken by the government and HRDF up-skilling programmes, adding that the CPM was part of programmes funded by the government to prepare the workforce especially for the digital economy besides making them more marketable and productive in their careers. He said HRDF is committed to supporting upskilling initiative for the benefit of employees in Sarawak and so far there are more than 1,000 employees in Sarawak being trained under different programmes. On the CPM which is an international certification, he commended IGM Academy (based in USJ, Subang Jaya) for collaborating with Canadian Council of Professional Certification in conducting three cohorts or series including the first one for Sarawak.

The graduates also obtained an additional certificate as the modules were recognised by the British Institute of Resource Development as equivalent to a Diploma in Business and Strategy. These two certificates from one programme fulfilled the government's objective of up-skilling Malaysian employees to 'provide employers with a skilled local workforce; enabling businesses in Malaysia to explore higher value chain economic opportunities. CPM is a four-months' intensive programme where participants (who are employees of HRDF registered companies) undergo intensive training for 15 days in Miri on subjects from Inspirational Leadership; Innovation including Disruptive Innovation, Strategic Thinking and Planning, Managing Projects as well as Methodology on How to Develop A New Business Plan or Introduce a New Business Innovation Initiative.

Among the objectives of the 15-day intensive programme held during the weekends over four months are the transformation of managers to have the critical ability to communicate ideas and concepts to inspire and motivate others in their team, become a competent manager to lead and work with any team and inspire business to grow. HRDF, an agency under the Ministry of Human Resources Malaysia, providing human resource development (HRD) solutions via funding, assessments, skills enhancement trainings, education and promotional programmes through the utilisation of its HRD levy and more recently, through its 30 per cent Consolidated Fund.

IGM meanwhile is an approved private lifelong learning institution licensed and accredited by Ministry of Human Resources. Over the past 18 years; IGM and its college Institute Global Management have trained and certified over 17,000 working executives, managers and entrepreneurs from a diversity of life-long learning programmes from certificate to MBA. Among those present were IGM principal consultant Oliver Ho and lecturers Datuk Ir Maruan Mohd Said and Rali Mohd Nor.

ISU : SELF EMPLOYMENT SOCIAL SECURITY SCHEME

New Self Employment Social Security Scheme Provides Benefits To Taxi Drivers — Socso

Datuk Dr Mohammed Azman Aziz Mohammed

KUALA LUMPUR: Taxi drivers across the country are urged to take up the Self Employment Social Security Scheme provided by the Social Security Organisation (Socso). Its chief executive, Datuk Dr Mohammed Azman Aziz Mohammed said the scheme which would take effect on June 1 was open to taxi drivers registered with the Land Public Transport Commission (SPAD) or the Commercial Vehicle Licensing Board (CVLB) in Sabah and Sarawak.

“The scheme is also available for Uber and Grab drivers or anyone who runs a taxi service,” he said at a press conference on the new scheme, here, yesterday. Mohammed Azman said the scheme was drawn up following an announcement by Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak in 2012, suggesting the Socso Protection Scheme to be extended to self-employed taxi drivers. “When tabling Budget 2017 last October, the prime minister announced a special government grant of RM60 million to begin implementing the scheme.

“This scheme provides cash benefits to taxi drivers and their dependants in the event of unexpected incidents such as accidents as well as medical care, physical rehabilitation or vocational training,” he said. The other features of the scheme are medical benefits, temporary disability benefits, permanent disability benefits, dependants’ benefit, funeral benefit, and education loans. “Taxi drivers have to contribute 1.25 per cent of their monthly income which is insured with the contribution.

“The contribution shall be paid on a prepaid basis for a 12-month period of protection and it should be renewed thereafter. Thus, Socso has provided flexible contribution options to taxi drivers according to their capacity from RM157.20 to RM592.80 per annum,” said Mohammed Azman. He said under the Self Employment Social Security Bill 2017 passed by Parliament in April, taxi drivers and e-hailing service providers such as Uber and Grab were required to contribute 1.25 per cent of their monthly income. He said registration could be done online through www.perkeso.gov.my or at any Socso branch office across the country.

ISU : MAJIKAN TIDAK MEMBAYAR GAJI PEKERJA

Tauke Kami Sudah Lari

Ipoh: Seramai 23 pengawal keselamatan mendakwa dianiaya majikan apabila tidak mendapat gaji dan bayaran gaji minimum RM900 sebulan seperti ditetapkan kerajaan susulan pihak pengurusan syarikat kawalan keselamatan itu kini menghilangkan diri.

Lebih malang, kes yang sudah dirujuk ke Jabatan Tenaga Kerja (JTK) dan Mahkamah Buruh itu masih gagal diselesaikan apabila pemilik syarikat berkenaan tidak dapat dikesan hingga kini dan semua pengawal terbabit buntu untuk menuntut hak mereka.

Wakil pengawal keselamatan, Abdul Nasir Abu Bakar berkata, seramai 23 orang bekerja dengan syarikat kawalan keselamatan berkenaan dan bertugas di 11 sekolah sekitar daerah Perak Tengah di mana syarikat terbabit mempunyai kontrak dengan Kementerian Pendidikan antara 1 Oktober 2012 hingga 30 September 2015.

“Pihak pengurusan syarikat secara tiba-tiba menghilangkan diri pada akhir Mac 2014 tanpa membayar baki gaji Februari dan Mac tahun berkenaan.

KSM Lancar Program Empat Dalam Satu

PUTRAJAYA: Kementerian Sumber Manusia (KSM) melancarkan empat program yang bertujuan meningkatkan kefahaman dan pengetahuan dalam pengurusan perubahan di kementerian terbabit.

Program bersepadu atau empat dalam satu itu ialah Pengisytiharan Ikrar Bebas Rasuah, Pembudayaan Nilai-nilai Murni berkonsepkan 1Kenal-Salam-Mesra (1KSM), Pelancaran Ekosistem Sektor Awam (EKSA) dan Sambutan Hari Sedunia Keselamatan serta Kesihatan di Tempat Kerja 2017.

Program berkenaan dilancarkan oleh Ketua Setiausaha KSM, Datuk Seri Adenan Ab Rahman. KSM turut melancarkan EKSA D-I-Y (Do-it-Yourself) sebagai promosi dan galakkan kepada semua jabatan dan agensi kementerian memulakan inisiatif persijilan di bawah Pensijilan EKSA bagi menggantikan Pensijilan 5S sebelum ini.

"Pelancaran EKSA pada hari ini amatlah penting kepada semua jabatan dan agensi kementerian dalam mencapai penilaian penarafan Bintang (System Star Rating) MAMPU pada tahun ini," kata kenyataan dikeluarkan Unit Komunikasi Korporat KSM, hari ini.
