PETALING JAYA: A woman sustained injuries on her calf while riding on an escalator at a popular mall here yesterday. Photos making the rounds on social media show the victim sitting by the side of an escalator with a cut on her calf while her friends try to console her. According to a statement by the mall on their official Facebook page, the incident happened at 4pm. The shopping mall's marketing department said in the statement that an investigation was ongoing to determine what had transpired.

From the photos, it is learnt that a metal piece on the side of the escalator was bent to the middle. It is learnt that the victim is currently receiving treatment at a nearby hospital. No one else was injured in the incident. Checks by theSun saw netizens and social media users expressing their discontent on the incident and mostly blaming the shopping mall maintenance department for the incident. A string of accidents since 2015 and 2016 involving escalators have spooked the Malaysian public with videos and pictures of such incidents being widely circulated.

Woman's leg gashed in mall escalator mishap

PETALING JAYA: Shoppers had a fright when a woman was injured in an escalator mishap at a shopping complex here. Photographs circulated on Facebook showed the victim sitting by the side of an escalator with a bad gash on her calf while friends were seen trying to console her. According to a statement from the management of the shopping complex on its official Facebook page, the incident happened at 4pm yesterday.

When contacted, its marketing communications assistant manager said investigations were ongoing to find out what had transpired. "From the photos, you can see that a metal piece on the side of the escalator came unhinged and was bent to the middle. "We are still unsure how this had happened as it would usually take some form of abuse for the metal to come off like that," he said. The victim, 20, was sent for treatment at a nearby hospital. The mall will be footing her medical bill. No one else was hurt in the incident.
