All-girl group Elite planning comeback

LOCAL 1990s all-girl singing group Elite is planning a comeback after a recent performance went viral on social media, reported Sinar Harian.

Group member Sasha Saidin said that she and the others did not expect their recent performance to garner such a warm response.

The group, sometimes described as the Spice Girls of Malaysia, released four albums from 1996 to 2000.

"Discussions are being held and I hope that Elite can remain consistently active after this," said Sasha.

> Employers who discover that their workers are using fake academic certificates to land jobs have been advised to report the matter to the police, according to Kosmo!.

It reported that Human Resources Minister Datuk Seri Richard Riot made the call after a job screening company discovered that more than 400 falsified certificates were used this year alone to apply for jobs.

The certificates appeared to be issued by local higher-learning institutions but the company, which screened more than 100,000 job applicants, found them to be fakes.
